SEROLOGY

Test Name	Results	Units	Bio. Ref. Interval	Method
-----------	---------	-------	--------------------	--------

HBsAg SCREEN

HBsAg ,Serum	NON REACTIVE	Immunochromatography
--------------	--------------	----------------------

Comments:

Hepatitis B is a major public health problem of global importance with an estimated 300 million persistent carriers of the hepatitis B virus (HBV) worldwide. Infected with HBV results in a wide spectrum of acute and chronic liver diseases. Epidemiological studies have clearly linked the virus with the development of hepatocarcinoma. HBV infection produces an array of unique antigens and antibodies which follow distinct and individual serological patterns. By monitoring these is possible not only to diagnose infection but also to determine the stage of the disease and probable prognosis. HBsAg is the first marker to appear following infection and is the best indirect indicator of potentially infectious sera.

Note : It is screening test only. Reactive samples must be confirmed with other confirmatory tests

VDRL

VDRL (Rapid) Serum	NON REACTIVE	NON REACTIVE	SLIDE FLOCCULATION
---------------------	--------------	--------------	--------------------

Comment : This test result is primarily valid as a screening procedure. It is advisable to confirm reactive samples with other methods employing specific treponemal antigen.

LIMITATIONS

1. Biological false positive results may be seen during a variety of acute and chronic conditions, as autoimmune disorders, pregnancy, tuberculosis, malaria, and viral infections. Titre in Biological false positive rarely exceeds 1:8. So repeat test should be performed to exclude biological false positives.
2. Reactive results must be correlated with supportive clinical, investigatory and epidemiological evidence to arrive at a final diagnosis.
3. False negative reactions can occur in stages of the disease where there is minimal tissue damage, particularly in early infection and in latent stages.

HIV I & II SCREENING

HIV I & II ANTIBODY	NON REACTIVE	NON-REACTIVE	IMMUNOCHROMATOGRAPHY
---------------------	--------------	--------------	----------------------

Comments : It is screening test only. Reactive samples must be confirmed with other confirmatory tests like western Blot with fresh sample. Careful interpretation by the referring physician required.

Correlate Clinically.
